

Quest

An Explorer or group of Explorers who goes on a trip or involves themselves in a new activity for the purpose of understanding reality is on a "Quest". A quest is like a mission but more of a short term event where a mission is a bigger longer goal. A Quest would be more like taking a weekend to take your family to a science museum to learn about new things or to go on retreat for self exploration and getting real.