

Explorers

Members who are committed to understanding reality are "Explorers". This is the counterpart to "Followers" in other religions. Exploring is the process of expanding our understanding of reality the way it really is. Personal exploring is the understanding of ourselves and the process of getting real. But we also explore the reality around us and share our findings with others to grow the Tree of Knowledge. And we contribute knowledge freely through intellectual tithing so that others can build on our knowledge as we have built on the knowledge of others.
