

Dishonesty, Deceit, and Deception

Dishonesty can spread like a cancer through a religion or culture. We live in a world where we are constantly surrounded by lies, deceit, and deception. It's almost mind numbing to think about. We are surrounded by people who are living the lie. People who are so divorced from reality that they don't know and don't even care what reality is. We live in a society of constant scams where people are promised an afterlife in exchange for slavery to a church in this life. So many lives dedicated to the meaningless pursuit of fictional deities serving the selfish interests of institutions that are little more than parasites sucking the life out of the human race and putting us on the {In:Path of Destitution and Destruction}.
