

Reclaiming Your Ownership of Yourself

Respecting the rights of others is the first step towards respecting your own right to self ownership. People have an intrinsic sense of fairness and often when people are harsh and judgmental towards others, they find it hard to accept their own intrinsic value.