

The One True Reality

The One True Reality is the one reality that is the sum total of everything that is real. The Church of Reality is a {In:Monorealistic} religion. We believe in one reality that encompasses all other realities that actually are real.

Some people who are {In:Polyrealistic} talk about "other realities" but our reality includes what other people might call other realities that are actually real as opposed to imaginary realities which are not real. Anything that actually is real is included and everything that is not real is excluded.

Some people talk about a "personal reality" which is really their viewpoint on reality or a localized subset of reality that applies to their personal experience. Some people confuse this with their personal opinion or {In:Personal Illusion}.
